

Shisa Nyama tour

Chisa nyama means burn meat a term used by local South Africans, each culture holds this term close to their hearts and each culture has a certain different way of how they prepare it, the taste varies as you move from one culture to the other, the use of spices sometimes they can use the same ingredients but it just keeps tasting different from one hand to the other- it is a simple Phenomenon that keeps people practicing this term also known as soul food.

Chisa nyama brings people together in any kind of set up it is known to Spark good times whenever it takes place; chess nyama can start a vibe, a party depending where it is started, it is also used to celebrate small wins and big wins in every traditional celebration chisa nyama holds a deeper significance in bringing different national tribes men together small cultural exchanges are made which cause a huge impact in the spiritual real and the People are united through dance and Song.

In weddings chisa Nyama is a great way to break the ice between both families, it allows them to interact and assist each other on the Barbecue stand and start sharing different ways of how to go about it, small laughters, teasing and deep talks echo amongst the groups who then break away into smaller Particles of people who seem to be jelling beyond the chisa nyama and find common interests In daily life's activities; Bond is finally created between both families and the over all task is complete closeness, comfort and Joy is in the Atmosphere.

On this tour we get to show case the different chisa nyama set ups in a city then Switch to a local township, we experience two different townships and one chisa nyama in the inner city. Each destination holds a certain culture of its own around how they act and interact with each other, the idea is to pay attention to how the gathering makes individuals of different spaces behave towards each other, the vibe changes the style and and taste too.

The tour is a hop on hop off tour we cover the historical aspects of areas in one occasion we go into a Museum or space that allow as Guests to learn about the area before we get back to the chisa nyama experience- the break stops are vital they allow guests to refresh their tongues and taste; to be able to distinguish between all three locations, we also have some off the beat surprise spaces to visit while on tour.

This is a half day towards full day tour.
